

SEPTEMBER NEWS

I write this newsletter as I cross the Mozambique border into South Africa on our return trip from our Dolphin Retreat. All 7 of us feel elated after having been blessed to swim with a huge pod of young Dolphins. One of which was a 2 week old baby Dolphin who enthralled us with his playful behaviour. For each one of us, the experience brought different insight and awakening. As a group we felt blessed to have this pod interacting with us and trust us with their offspring.

Many of us watched in awe as Angie Gullan swam with and photographed these magnificent non-human persons (official new name given). This sight caused many of us to stand in total awe of Angie and her intimate yet totally respectful interaction with these creatures.

Some people reading this newsletter may remember that Angie's establishment burnt to the ground a few months ago. The personal loss was huge as her own home and the camp burnt down to the ground with only a laptop and underwater camera being saved. Yet, despite this, she has managed to continue the conscious Dolphin swims; not even to mention the broad smile especially when she speaks about and sees the Dolphins. To everyone reading this newsletter, this is an adventure that you don't want to miss.

I also felt totally blessed to be the person to conduct a sacred healing and renewal ceremony on the site that Dolphin Encounters used to call home. This ceremony caused many of us to shed more than a tear but I feel convinced that, despite the best efforts of the authorities to make re-establishment of Dolphin Encounters as difficult as possible, Angie and her staff will find another perfect spot in paradise that they once again will call home and a space that will accommodate many more people like us who wish to learn more about, interact with Dolphins and relax in nature. Thank you to Karen Barenche and Alexandra Lawrence for the help in preparing the ceremony. For now Dolphin Encounters continues to operate their Dolphin swim facility and offer accommodation at a great little lodge called O Lar Do O'uro.

We all felt blessed to have this accommodation away from the noise of jet skis and partying dive camp people. Our hostesses Terry and Jan treated us like family, fed us like kings and allowed us to use their space as if it was our own. The accommodation was simple, clean and met our every need; lovely hot showers, beautiful swimming pool, lush gardens and ever attentive staff. The three course breakfasts and dinners tasted like home cooked meals. That is if one considers prawns and crème brûlée as home food. I highly recommend this establishment.

Lastly, to the ladies that joined me on this retreat ... Dominique, Chandrè, Ash, Ashleigh, Tania and Robyn ... a huge thanks for making the retreat so special.

We spent a lot of time meditating, doing yoga, playing the Transformation Game and just chilling. I offered an energy healing session to each guest and besides being a pleasure to assist the Dolphins with healing, it is also a privilege to be part of the healing process of a human's life journey.

Should you wish to contact Dolphin Encounters, you can email Angie at info@dolphincare.org (www.dolphincare.org) and Jan and Terry from O Lar Do O'uro on info@pontadoouro.com (www.pontadoouro.com)

Please email info@zeropointhealing.co.za with suggestions about topics you'd like me to cover in future newsletters.
